Freshmen FAQ

Do I have to declare a specialisation now in my Academic Declaration Plan?
There is no need to declare a specialisation if you have not decided on one yet, or have no plans yet to read modules for a specialisation. But please declare at least one specialisation by your 5th semester (Y3S1).

How can I find my pre-allocated classes?
Go to EduRec -> Course Registration -> View My Classes @ CourseReg. Alternatively, go to Academic Records -> View Modules (but this page is not real-time during CourseReg Period, and may take a while to sync).

Can I take more than 23 MCs in Y1S1?
No, unless you are in special programmes. e.g. Double Degree Programme, NUSC

Why am I having issues with CourseReg?

a. It may be because you have not completed your Academic Declaration Plan yet.
b. Or if you have a Negative Service Indicator, then please read the official reference linked below.

How do I swap classes?
Please read the official reference linked below.

Can I do a 3-way swap?
Yes, you can, but ensure that the swap is clear.

What happens if I still don't get the module I want even after Round 3?
All appeals must be made through CourseReg@ EduRec under the appropriate appeal type. Students should always try to select their intended modules at all available Rounds. Only appeals made under the type "Unable to Secure Course" will be considered. The outcome of your appeal will also be subjected to vacancies available.
